

Amethyst countertop is made of natural amethyst semi-precious stone material, unique and exquisite. Backlit Amethyst countertops are popular because of their unique purple crystals and excellent texture. Backlit Amethyst countertops are often used in kitchen, bathroom, dining table and other home Spaces to bring an elegant and luxurious atmosphere to the indoor environment. Amethyst also has good light transmission and is often designed for light transmission effect.

First, the color of the amethyst countertop is one of its most striking features. It presents a deep purple tone and exudes a light luster, making the whole space more unique taste and artistic sense. This unique purple crystal offers endless possibilities for interior design and can be paired with furniture and decorations in a variety of styles and colors to create a unique living environment.

Secondly, amethyst countertops have excellent hardness and wear resistance, making them one of the ideal countertop materials. Its surface is smooth and strong, able to withstand the shock and friction of daily use, and is not easy to scratch or wear. This makes amethyst countertops very suitable for high-frequency use areas such as kitchens, maintaining long-term beauty and functionality.

In addition, the amethyst countertop also has the characteristics of good stain resistance and easy cleaning. Its surface is not easy to penetrate stains, easy to wipe clean, so that home owners can more easily keep the table clean and sanitary.

Overall, amethyst countertops, with their unique appearance, robustness and easy cleaning, have become a highly regarded choice for home decor, injecting a unique art into the interior space.

SHENCYAO

• SINCE 2003