

Backlit Green Emerald Slabs

The backlit green emerald slab is a green semi-precious stone slab with good light transmittance. The unique color and crystal clear texture of green emerald give it the ability to give every space a unique and luxurious atmosphere. The green emerald slab is made by fine polishing and processing. It shows a charming light and shadow effect under the light, just like the brilliance of gemstones in nature. Its excellent light transmission performance not only allows light to penetrate evenly, but also creates a warm and soft atmosphere for the space.

Whether used for background walls, bars, countertop, or floors, backlit green emerald semi-precious stone slab can enhance the layering and visual impact of the overall design. Each green emerald slab is like a work of art from nature, perfectly combining light, shadow, color and texture to create a unique and luxurious space experience.
