

Backlit gray agate slab is a high-end material made from carefully processed gray agate. It retains the natural beauty of natural gray agate and at the same time improves the light transmittance through special processes. When light penetrates the slab, its texture and color will reveal a dreamlike effect, both hazy and clear, presenting a unique visual impact. It is a translucent semi-precious stone slab that is loved by designers.

Gray agate is a warm and delicate semi-precious stone known for its unique gray tone and natural texture. It is often considered a symbol of elegance and calmness. Its rich texture changes and soft colors make it both ornamental and of great decorative value.

Application areas of backlit gray agate slab

Interior decoration: It can be used for background walls, screens, etc. to create a high-end atmosphere through lighting effects.

Furniture design: suitable for bar counters, coffee tables, etc., adding a sense of artistry and luxury through light transmission effects.

Commercial space: Used as decorative panels, reception desks or display racks in hotels, clubs, exhibition halls, etc. to make the space more attractive.

Lamp design: Combined with light sources and applied to lampshades or lighting fixtures, allowing the natural beauty of agate to perfectly blend with the lighting.
