Painted stone, Another name is Scenic Stone, which is a kind of felsic sandstone. The natural Painted stone itself has a picturesque texture and shape, hence the name. This is also the most valuable part of Painted stones - each stone has different textures and colors, which can form a beautiful picture, so that people who love fantasy have another unique space to play, and let the bubbles of wisdom stir up Countless beautiful works. Where are the rivers and where are the mountains and rivers, a stone is in hand, no matter how strange the story is, of course, it is all up to you.

The Painted stone is produced in South Africa, and its crystal structure is fine-grained. The main mineral components are feldspar, quartz and some iron oxides. Because the minerals are filled along the joints, fissures and capillary pores of the original stone, under a certain degree of weathering, mineral elements cause color. The color of ferrous and ferric ions is brown, brown-yellow, brown-brown, individual brown-red, brown-red, and the result of mineral elements directly leads to different color patterns in their patterns. Therefore, the color of landscape stone is generally yellow, yellowish brown, gray, etc., and its luster is glass luster to earthy luster, opaque, and Mohs hardness is 5-6.
